

AWIGE.ORG

User Terms and Conditions

Our terms and conditions (“Terms and Conditions”) make legally binding agreement that governs your use of our organisation for female African teachers called AWIGE.ORG and all related services we make accessible to you thanks to AWIGE.ORG (“Service”).

If you are female African teacher (“Teacher”), our Terms and Conditions should be read by you carefully. By using our Service in any way, you always agree that you understand and accept our Terms and Conditions (including amendments). If you do not agree with our Terms and Conditions, you are not allowed to use our Service. To use our Service, you have to have reliable internet access via smartphone, tablet or laptop / computer equipped with web browser. It’s on you to have data to use our Service. You are also responsible for all information passed by you on to us, via our Service. We closely co-operate with StorkSchool.com provider enabling remote EdTech work opportunities to female African teachers registered with us. This way we pass your data to them. You agree to use our Service only for lawful purposes and in a way not violating any laws or regulations. Nobody is authorised to use our Service in an unlawful way or to violate of any laws or regulations, licenses or third-party rights. Moreover, nobody is allowed to do anything with our Service that could imply prejudice or damage our reputation.

If we realise that you have used our Service in a way not allowed under these Terms and Conditions, or according to any laws or regulations, we terminate your use of our Service and we are obliged to report it to authorities in our country and in country of your residence. We aim at keeping our Service as accessible all the time but your access may be limited at any time. We have full right to modify our functionalities without any notice. We grant you a non-exclusive and revocable license to use our Service as long as we don’t terminate it. After the termination of your license, you ought to stop using our Service and any benefits related to it. All intellectual property rights in our Service belong to us. By using our Service, you acknowledge that we can process information regarding you to the extent that is required to make our Service useful. We only use your personal data in accordance with GDPR and we are the data controller for it.

You agree that our Service and its content are protected by applicable intellectual property law, including copyright. We don’t claim any rights in any part of your data that you post to our Service. After posting it you continue retaining all ownership rights in such content but you grant to us unrestricted, constant and royalty-free license to copy, distribute and present it in any crucial way. You also agree that you will not post content to our Service that is not true, violates ethics or intellectual property or other rights belonging to another person. You are not allowed to post any content impersonating any person. We reserve full right to decide whether any content that you post to our Service violates any of these Terms and Conditions or which may be illegal. We always may reject or remove your content without prior information.

Our Service is available to you on a temporary “as is” and “as available” basis without further guarantees, conditions or warranties relating to it. We can’t be liable to the fullest extent permitted by law if our Service is unavailable for any reason at any time. Our Service can have links to other websites and services operated by third parties. When we provide link to any third-party website it doesn’t mean we are responsible for the content of the information on such third-party services.

We could be only liable to you for alleged loss or damage caused directly and reasonably by our breach of these Terms and Conditions and our liability in such circumstances is limited. To the extent permitted by the law we as well as persons who act on our behalf or persons we enter into contracts, can’t be liable for the following types of alleged loss or damage: any loss of profits, goodwill, business, contract, revenue or data.

Nothing in these Terms and Conditions is intended by us to limit your rights as a consumer. However, you agree and understand that we make no warranty with regards to any benefit or advantage you obtain from us using our Service. If our Service contains ads or promotions from third parties, we are not responsible for their content.

-) || (- AWIGE

African Women In Global Education

Vihiga, 21 March 2020

www.awige.org